The company has also informed that the game's story line is based on the characters from several of its previous installments, and will cover the beginning of the universe up to the present day. The 80 missions will take you through entire movies of the story. On the other hand, the publishers have also informed that the game will offer a multiplayer experience that will include the standard characteristics and weapons of the series. The game will be officially unveiled at E3 2012 this year. The invention relates to a device for regenerating a compressed gas by removing deposited particles of the type used in accordance with the flue-gas loading agent technology and to a process for operating a device for regenerating a compressed gas by removing deposited particles of the type used according to the flue-gas loading agent technology. Devices for regenerating compressed gases are used in order to eliminate the polluted gaseous components in a compressed gas such as, for example, flue gas in a combustion process. Flue gas is understood to mean the emissions resulting from a process, which are formed essentially from the combustion of solid or liquid fuel, for example, coal or oil, waste material, etc., in a combustion chamber and are then discharged into the surroundings. The flue gas, which comprises, for example, carbon dioxide, nitrogen, hydrogen, sulfur dioxide, oxides of nitrogen and oxides of sulfur, can be composed, in addition, of organically bound components such as carbon monoxide, carbon dioxide, hydrocarbons and ammonium and sulfate components, among others. Such flue gas requires extensive preliminary processing to remove the pollutants. In order to process the flue gas, by way of example, a flue-gas loading agent (based, for example, on sodium bicarbonate and lime) is used. The loading agent deposits the pollutants in the flue gas. The loading agent is destroyed during this process and is correspondingly removed. Various measures are taken in order to regenerate the 0cc13bf012
